

Thailand International School Fees Report

One-page summary · Data checked 6 October 2026

Full report: credradar.org/reports/thailand-international-school-fees/

+13.7%

Median fee change — 42 Bangkok schools with matched published fees, 2020/21 to 2024/25 (about +3.3% a year, like-for-like)

฿80,000 - ฿1,283,500

Published annual fee span across listed international schools, lowest to highest

50 of 184

Fully verified international-school listings that publish no fee figure at all [NV]

+30% median

Foreign-student premium across 29 dual-priced university programmes (range +1% to +64%)

Findings

Fees, verified at source.

Of 184 fully verified listings, 111 carry fees captured from the school's own documents [O], 23 rest on aggregator figures [A], and 50 publish no fee figure [NV]. Every figure keeps its label.

Bilingual schools publish far less.

Only 12 of 75 listed bilingual / EP schools publish any fee figure at all; only 6 publish a full annual range.

Schools sometimes disagree with themselves.

In 6 documented cases across 4 schools, a school's own website states different totals in different places. CredRadar records both figures, each with its source.

University dual pricing is the norm, not the exception.

29 of 133 listed English-taught programmes publish separate Thai and foreign-student rates.

The bachelor's core band.

The foreign-student rate's per-year equivalent has a median of ฿210,000; 70% of bachelor's programmes fall between ฿90,000 and ฿320,000 a year.

Context.

Around 28,000 Chinese students were enrolled in Thai higher education in 2024 — more than half of all international students (Royal Thai Government, 2025).

How to cite: "CredRadar — Thailand International School Fees Report (data checked 6 October 2026)", credradar.org/reports/thailand-international-school-fees/. The full fee-history dataset (455 records) is published as a CSV on the report page.